Linked Lists

```
01 #include <stdio.h>
02 #include <stdlib.h>
03
04 typedef struct Node {
05    int data;          // Could put any kind of data here
06    struct Node *next; // Self-referential requires "struct"
07 } Node;
08
09 Node *Add(int data, Node *oldHead) {
10    Node *rtn = malloc(sizeof(Node));
11
12    rtn->data = data;
13    rtn->next = oldHead;
14    return rtn;
15 }
16
17 int IsOn(int value, Node *head) {
18    Node *temp;
19
20    for (temp = head; temp != NULL && temp->data != value; temp = temp->next)
21       ;
22    return temp != NULL;
23 }
24
25 Node *Remove(Node *head) {
26    Node *temp = head->next;
27
28    free(head);
29    return temp;
30 }
31
32 void FreeAll(Node *head) {
33    Node *temp;
34
35    while (head != NULL) {
36       temp = head->next;
37        free(head);
38       head = temp;
39    }
40 }
41
42 int main() {
43    Node *head = NULL;
44
45    head = Add(10, head);
46    head = Add(20, head);
47    head = Add(40, Add(30, head));
48
49    printf("First value is %d and 20 %s on the list.\n", head->data,
50     IsOn(20, head) ? "is" : "is not");
51
52    head = Remove(head);
53    printf("First value is %d and 40 %s on the list.\n", head->data,
54     IsOn(40, head) ? "is" : "is not");
55
56    FreeAll(head);
57 }
58 /* Sample run:
59 First value is 40 and 20 is on the list.
60 First value is 30 and 40 is not on the list.  */
```